

ASSERTS BRITISH INSULT U. S. FLAG TOWARD AMERICA

Consul Feared to Cable Report From Ireland, Woman Testifies

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23.—An attempt by British soldiers to tear down an American flag from her father's home in Queenstown, Ireland, where she was staying last August, was described today by Mrs. Michael Mohan, of Corona, Long Island, before the commission of the committee of one hundred investigating conditions in Ireland.

Mrs. Mohan said she had put up the flag as a protection against raids and that when a party of soldiers saw it one of them shouted "tear down that damned American flag and trample on it." The soldiers, then, she said, smashed windows in a fruitless attempt to climb up to the flag.

The witness told the commission that when she reported the incident to American Consul McAndrews at Queenstown she was informed that the "English hate Americans as much as they do Irish," and that the consul would not be permitted to cable a report to America as the telegram would be censored.

DEMOGRAPHIC MILITARY. WASHINGTON, Dec. 23.—A characterization of the "Black and Tans" as "a wholly without discipline and not responsible to anybody," was given Wednesday by a former corporal in the United States army to a request of the committee of one hundred investigating the Irish question for an appraisal through the eyes of a soldier of English forces in Ireland.

D. J. Broderick, of Chicago, who said he served on the Mexican border before the world war and in the navy during hostilities, told the commission that "it enlisted men of the American military services took into their own hands reprisals against the people of occupied territories as the 'Black and Tans' and English soldiers do in Ireland; they would be tried by courts-martial and sentenced to long terms in military prisons."

Broderick, who returned to this country December 5, after a visit to Abbey Feale, Ireland, said he had been addressed by a member of the "Black and Tans" as "one of those Yanks who won the war." He was searched on one occasion at the point of a pistol, he declared, and upon pointing out his American citizenship was told "We don't care if you are the president of the United States, you are going to be searched."

Broderick said he had witnessed the pillaging of homes by "drunken 'Black and Tans' the 'potholes' of cattle by British soldiers and the wounding of a little girl by the military."

He added that one of the "Black and Tans" and a member of the Royal Irish constabulary had showed him their ammunition, which he said, consisted of "soft nosed" bullets, moulded of lead and flat on the end.

PEACE PARLEY CONTINUES. DUBLIN, Dec. 23.—There is no truth in the rumors that negotiations for peace in Ireland have been broken off, the Associated Press is authoritatively informed. There has been only a hitch in the peace discussions and the belief is expressed that the negotiations soon will be resumed with good prospects of success.

IRISH BOND MONEY. NEW YORK, Dec. 23.—Money raised in this country on "Irish republic" bonds is in the control and at the disposal of the minister of finance of the "Irish parliament," Harry Boland, secretary to Eamon de Valera, stated last night.

BRAZIL FRIENDLY TOWARD AMERICA

Colby's Visit Is Occasion for Expressions of Esteem for United States

RIO JANEIRO, Dec. 23.—Senator Alfredo Ellis, in his address of welcome to Secretary Colby, the United States secretary of state, when he later visited the senate this afternoon, made special reference to the Monroe doctrine.

"To your great nation, as the elder brother of the seven New republics of the New World was reserved the hard task of watching over the liberty and safety of the whole family," Senator Ellis said. "That program was defined and known throughout the world as the Monroe doctrine. Even now, faithful to the old doctrine, the American people continue to maintain it instead of accepting the rules and statutes of the league of European nations."

DOCTRINE OF DEFENSE. "Many think the Monroe doctrine means the whole continent is to be considered as a hunting ground for the American on account of their power and preponderance over their weaker brothers. Luckily, your great president, Mr. Wilson, speaking to the Mexican people defined recently and clearly the spirit and true significance of the doctrine—it is a doctrine of defense."

"The doctrine was a compromise to defend the American republics against incursions. In proclaiming that doctrine, the North American government became the champion of liberty throughout the New World. No one of sound mind can imagine that Washington's sword should be used as an instrument to plant the seed of oppression over all America instead of that liberty in both continents. Washington not only was the father of his country, but is considered throughout the Americas as the father of democracy and the great champion of liberty."

SEC. COLBY ANSWERS

"No one supposes your powerful nation, the most freedom loving of the republics, would need for its enormous growth and development the aid of a nation growing confidently under its beneficial and friendly shade."

Responding, Secretary Colby expressed deep appreciation of the reception given him by the senate and the utterances of Senator Ellis. He reiterated that the purpose of his visit was to repay that of President Pessoa to the United States. Colby said President Pessoa left a lasting impression in the minds and hearts of the North American people and that the Americans as the father of democracy to the Brazilian people the feelings of esteem and abiding friendship of the North American people for them.
